The Reggio Children resources (books, exhibit catalogues, audiovisual materials, portfolios) are developed from projects carried out in the Municipal Infant-toddler Centers and Preschools of Reggio Emilia, with the aim to offer a wide audience a close-up look at young children's thoughts, ideas, imagination, and their relational and learning strategies. Based on listening to and esteem for young children, these books and other materials directly present the voice of the children, including reports on research conducted in the schools and essays on educational topics; in all these resources the children themselves are the protagonists. The Reggio Children resources are available in numerous languages and are distributed in many countries by a network of partners and bookshops.

Early Childhood Education in Reggio Emilia
Dialoguing, Listening and Researching
 By Carla Rinaldi
 Published by

RoutledgeFalmer. This book offers a collection of Carla Rinaldi's most important articles, lectures, and interviews from 1994 to the present day, organized around a number of themes and with a full introduction which contextualises each piece of work. The topics discussed include: the thought and legacy of Loris Malaguzzi, the uniqueness of the Reggio Emilia Approach, current issues in education and the meaning of being a teacher today, the role of creativity in education, the teaching/learning relationship, participation, and assessment. Closing with an interview of Rinaldi by Peter Moss and Gunilla Dahlberg, the author discusses her current work and her reflections on Reggio's past, present, and future.
